

INNOVATION AND COMMERCIALIZATION IN RESEARCH HYBRID WEBINAR

The Professional Development Core of the Dakota Cancer Collaborative on Translational Activity (DaCCoTA), in collaboration with the Office of Translational Alliances and Coordination (OTAC) of the National Heart, Lung, and Blood Institute (NHLBI) of the National Institutes of Health (NIH), South Dakota Biotech, and the University of South Dakota's Technology Transfer office will host a hybrid webinar covering innovation and commercialization in research.

WHEN

MAY 18TH

8am – 12pm

WHERE

Breakfast and In-person viewing of this hybrid webinar is available at the following locations:

- School of Medicine Room E226 at the University of North Dakota
- Aldevron Tower 150 at North Dakota State University
- Lee Med 103 at the University of South Dakota

ZOOM LINK

https://usd.zoom.us/meeting/register/tjcvd-GrrTktGNS_jeMBhDsz57ja4cijq_ga

QR CODE

For questions, please contact Christian Buresh at christian.buresh@usd.edu

8:00 am – 8:30 am:

Introductions – Dr. Lee Baugh, University of South Dakota (USD) and Christian Buresh, USD

8:30 am – 9:15 am:

Introduction to the small business innovation programs at the National Institutes of Health (NIH) with a focus on the National Cancer Institute (NCI) – Dr. Jonny Franca-Koh, NCI

9:15 am – 9:45 am:

Commercialization resources available at the NIH with focus on the National Heart, Lung, and Blood Institute (NHLBI) – Dr. Kathleen Rousche, NHLBI

9:45 am – 10:00 am: Break

10:00 am – 10:15 am:

An example of an early-stage program for primary investigators interested in commercializing their research – Dr. Mike Pieck, NHLBI

10:15 am – 11:00 am:

Why protecting intellectual property is important for commercialization and how to do it using your technology transfer office – Beth Lambeth, USD, and Dr. Gautam Prakash, NHLBI

11:00 am – 12:00 pm:

Open Q&A with NIH staff and Dr. Lee Baugh, USD, and Beth Lambeth, USD

SPONSORS

DaCCoTA

DAKOTA CANCER COLLABORATIVE
ON TRANSLATIONAL ACTIVITY

